CAROLINA AND ITS CAGE FUTURE

No team in the nation tackles a more ambitious schedule than North Carolina, year in, year out. The 1964-65 list of opponents for the Tar Heels is awesome.

In fact, it looks as if Dean Smith's high jumpers are competing for two crowns—those of the Atlantic Coast and Southeastern Conference. Carolina plays the other seven members of the ACC, also engages six and possibly a seventh from the SEC, depending upon the outcome of the VPI Invitational Tournament.

Independent New York University and Indiana of the Big Ten are other outside foes. Both are expected to be strong and willing.

"The schedule presents a real challenge," says Coach Dean Smith. "We must be extra good if we succeed because two-thirds of our games are on the road. We are a traveling team—and you know the old story about home court advantage."

Smith frankly admits he expects his Tar Heels to be an exciting group, capable of many good nights on the court. He lost four seniors from last year's squad but the hub of the wheel, Billy Cunningham, is back for more fancy turns.

Cunningham, who has played two sensational seasons for Carolina, was named team captain by a vote of squadmen. Sportswriters have named him All-Everything. Billy is a leader and a point-getter.

"The strength of this year's team should be its rebounding," cites Smith. "For the past two seasons, we have depended upon Cunningham to carry the load. Billy did a superb job, but it wore him down as the game progressed.

"Now there are others to help. One is Bob Lewis, who had a great freshman year. There is Mark Mirken, a strong fellow who has marks of real promise. Bob Bennett and Ray Respess, our veterans, should improve their board work. We will go after the ball."

Coach Smith's pattern of play calls for many varieties of offense, including the "shuffle," brain-child of Bruce Drake, once of Oklahoma, who is a friend of the Carolina tutor. Defensively, the Tar Heels prefer man-to-man, but can improvise and switch to other sets if the mission requires it.

The Tar Heels of last season had several shortcomings. They scored at a fast clip (77.5 per game) but their defensive weakness allowed a like number of points put up against them. The backcourt had its problems in setting up play patterns. Too often a pressing defense upset the plan of attack.

"Our chief problem is our backcourt," admits the coach, "but we think it will be vastly improved. Every day we work hard on that phase—and we use numerous players to find the most workable combination. We'll continue this approach throughout the season."

Bill Brown, who played sparringly last year, may be the quarterback the Tar Heels are seeking. Or it may be Johnny Yokley, swift and energetic. Lewis, who set a frosh scoring mark of 37 per game, is capable of playing at guard. Ian Morrison, another up from the sassy yearlings, is a shooter of amazing accuracy. Mike Smith, a transfer, knows how to move the ball. He will be eligible in January.

"We don't have time to wait for an answer," smiles Smith knowingly. "We play 10 games the first month of the season, including one tournament. The pressure will be on us early."

Kentucky and Vanderbilt, both selected in the Top 20 polls, and Indiana, darkhorse of the Big Ten, are listed within the first seven games. All will be played on the road.

A tough but interesting season is in the making.

About Dean Smith

Dean Smith, a 33-year-old native of Emporia, Kansas, begins his fourth season as head coach at the University of North Carolina. He succeeded the successful Frank McGuire in 1961, when the latter entered pro ranks.

The coach's theory on basketball brings together a variety of offenses, with a sizable helping of the "shuffle," which Smith garnishes with his own innovations. He is a strong believer in man-to-man defense, a throwback to his winning college career; but here, too, he can apply other techniques, depending upon the opponent. Carolina's three-year rebuilding record under Coach Smith is 37 wins against 27 defeats in facing the toughest opposition available.

During 1964-65, for example, the Tar Heels meet such teams as Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Duke, NYU, Indiana, plus fellow members of the strong Atlantic Coast Conference. UNC is in the hub of "Tobacco Road," an area noted for its heated basketball rivalries.

Smith's most colorful team in his first three years was produced in 1962-63. Led by the play-making of Larry Brown, later to be chosen for an Olympic cage berth, the Tar Heels compiled a 15-6 record. Important wins that season came at the expense of Kentucky and Notre Dame.

First season under Smith found the Carolina squad finishing with an 8-9 mark. Last year the record read 12-12, a semi-final berth in the ACC tournament and an All-America certificate for Center Billy Cunningham.

Coach Smith was McGuire's assistant at Chapel Hill for three years. When McGuire, whose club won a National Championship in 1957, was signed by the then Philadelphia Warriors, Smith was promoted to the top position.

Smith was a member of the 1952 University of Kansas club that won a national crown and the 1953 outfit which was runner-up in the NCAA finals. After graduation, Dean joined the KU staff. Later he went into service and played and coached in Germany.

While North Carolina was at Kansas City in March of 1957 for the NCAA, Coach Smith met with McGuire and discussed the possibilities of teaming up. Dean, who was then on the Air Force Academy staff coaching basketball, baseball and golf, resigned and became a Tar Heel in 1958.

An all-around athlete at Kansas, Dean played baseball and freshman football as well as basketball under the famed Dr. Phog Allen.

At Carolina, Coach Smith has impressed basketball pundits with his technical knowledge of the game and his penchant for details. He helped develop the "point zone" defense that combines the virtues of a man-to-man and zone into one operation. He is a close friend of Bruce Drake, former Oklahoma coach, who invented the "shuffle" attack.

Dean and Ann Smith have two daughters and a son. The coach is active throughout the year for clinics and basketball seminars and is much in demand as a speaker. He is an enthusiastic supporter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Chancellor Paul Sharp (right) with Coach Dean Smith, says: "The University of North Carolina is proud of its long and successful record in intercollegiate basketball competition. This exciting sport which has changed so much in recent years challenges both coaches and competitors in ways provided by few of our varsity sports. We are confident that good sportsmanship by both spectators and competitors will continue to be a part of our athletic performance. We welcome our rival teams to our campus and we are confident that our determination to win will be matched by our hospitality."

A Great School, In A Unique Town

With affable and energetic Paul F. Sharp serving as its new Chancellor, the University of North Carolina continues to make its mark high in the field of world education. This has been a product since 1795. George Washington was president of the United States when the first students were admitted to UNC.

Chancellor Sharp, former president of Hiram College in Ohio, succeeded the capable leadership of William B. Aycock in September. Dr. Aycock resigned to resume his teaching at the School of Law. A 46-year-old native of Missouri, Chancellor Sharp is a historian, teacher and distinguished scholar. The author of several books, the new Chancellor is a man of lofty ideals and decisive direction.

Chancellor Sharp quickly adapted himself to his important position in the unique setting of Chapel Hill. The University and the town of Chapel Hill have a common bind. They are often considered as one. An old grad will remark: "I attended Chapel Hill." Another will call his school "the Hill." Another, more directly, just "Carolina."

The ivy around the town of Chapel Hill links to that of the University buildings. It is a sleepy town, yet a resourceful one. It is a town where Negro women sit beneath the shade of a tree a few yards from the door of a bank—selling neat little bouquets of flowers to the passersby.

It is a town which Time magazine once called "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States." It is a town without pretense, one in which the fellow wearing the $150 suit may run a small cafe, while his conversational partner, looking worn and tattered, may well be a successful novelist.

The University of North Carolina is a member of the Association of American Universities and an institution dedicated to the training of students in many facets of cultural, scientific and humanitarian service to mankind.

Its alumni are many—and fame has claimed a good number. In literature, Thomas Wolfe's name stands foremost. He patrolled the lovely campus with an unusual mind for detail. The falling of a leaf would inspire him to page after page of prose.

The most noted professor, yet one without tenure, is the original Old Professor of Musical Knowledge, Kay Kyser, who lives in Chapel Hill with his beautiful wife, the former Georgia Carroll. Kay first gained fame as a cheerleader for the Tar Heels.

In athletics, the "Football Hall of Fame" houses the history and deeds of Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice (1946-49), who led the Tar Heels to three bowls in four years. A Gator Bowl crown was claimed by Carolina in 1963.

The 1957 basketball team, led by a Jewish boy named Lennie Rosenbluth and coached by an Irishman named Frank McGuire, won the NCAA championship. Harvie Ward, a golfer with the looks of a matinee idol, earned an All-America rank as a golfer, then later won the British Amateur championship.

Little Jimmy Beatty, standing 5-6 and weighing 128 pounds, made a habit of grinding the four-minute mile into the dust. He once was known as America's greatest miler and was a challenge to the world of speed. Swimmer Thompson Mann and cager Larry Brown won gold medals at the recent Olympic games.

The University at Chapel Hill is composed of 14 colleges and schools. The student body numbers approximately 11,300 and there are over 1,000 full-time and part-time faculty members.

Located in the approximate geographic center of the state, the University's campus has been carefully cultivated from the botanical and landscaping points of view and is considered one of the most beautiful in the world.

ERICKSON: HE KEEPS BUILDING

C. P. (Chuck) Erickson can only hope that this year, his 12th as athletic director at the University of North Carolina, can be as successful as last year, perhaps the most distinguished and exciting nine months in the school's history.

Now in the trophy case is the Carmichael Cup, significant of supremacy regarding overall program in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Helping pave the way for such an honor were championships or co-championships in four sports—football, baseball, swimming and cross country.

"All of us can take pride in the records and spirit of our squads in a dozen varsity sports," said Erickson. "The hard work of the various coaching staffs must be recognized. Our department is made up of dedicated men."

Erickson's guidance has won Carolina respect across the nation as a school with sports standards on par with its academic excellence. The physical plant is one of the most modern, beautiful and serviceable in America.

"Two of our latest additions are a gymnasium which will seat 10,000 for basketball and a renovation of Kenan Fieldhouse," said Erickson. "The indoor stadium will be ready in July of 1965. Also under construction is a new baseball park."

Visitors are always impressed by the two Olympic pools on campus, the handsome, 43,000-seat Kenan Stadium in its picturesque setting and the various tennis courts and other outdoor facilities. Finley Golf Course, an 18-hole test of courage, serves students and faculty.

Erickson succeeded the genial and highly respected Robert A. (Coach Bob) Fetzer in June of 1952. Prior to that he had been assistant director of athletics. His achievements in his position are many. The Carolina athletic program is respected across the country.

A graduate of Carolina with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Engineering in 1931, Erickson has been connected with athletics at the University in one way or another for more than 30 years.

A native of Oak Park, Illinois, he came to Carolina as a football player under Coach Chuck Collins, the old Notre Damer, after attending the University of Wisconsin for one year. He was a star halfback at Carolina on squads that were noted for fine backs. He also lettered in track.

Erickson then entered business for two years before returning to the athletic department here. He first served as assistant graduate manager of athletics, engaged in field work as a fund raiser and also had a hitch of coaching and scouting.

Then came a tour with the Navy as a lieutenant eommander, following which he was named Assistant Athletic Director.

Golf is a hobby and particular love. Doubling as golf coach for many years, he turned out four conference championship teams. He was chairman of the 1962 NCAA Golf Tournament.

Chuck is married to the former Mildred Wanell and they have a daughter, Susan, who graduated from UNC last spring.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS AT UNC

SOON – A New Look

The two photos on the opposite page are models of the new William D. Carmichael Jr. Auditorium, now under construction and expected to be in operation by June of 1965.

The handsome arena, which will seat approximately 10,000, will be used for basketball competition and other University activities.

The newest addition to the athletic plant will also house athletic offices for all sports with the exception of football. Football offices are in Kenan Fieldhouse, at the east end of Kenan Stadium.

Ernie Williamson, executive secretary of the Educational Foundation, will set up his new offices in the Carmichael building. Until the building is completed, Coach Ernie will share Fetzer Fieldhouse offices with Bob Quincy, sports information director.

Permanent seats with ample foot space and designed for viewing ease will be a feature of the new basketball arena. A trophy room to house the many awards received by University of North Carolina athletic teams will be located in the entrance hallway.

THE FRESHMAN COACHING STAFF

HEAD COACH KEN ROSEMOND

Freshman basketball teams at most schools are a necessity rather than a living part of the overall basketball program. Not so at North Carolina—thanks to the energy and drive of Ken Rosemond.

Rosemond's yearlings have been a delight to watch in recent years. Last season, for example, the seats at Woollen Gymnasium were often filled early in the evening for the frosh prelim leading to the varsity game. Then there was a single UNC-Duke freshman game which drew 5,000 by itself.

The reason is sound basketball, colorful players and a system that pleases fans. Rosemond is demanding of his chattels, but he has a knack of getting the most out of the least. The 1963-64 season produced 13 wins in 16 starts. The Big Four baby crown (Wake Forest, Duke, N.C. State) was won by Rosemond's Tar Babies.

Rosemond, a native of Hillsboro, N. C. (which is only a long set shot from Chapel Hill), played on the famed 1957 National Championship team at UNC. He graduated from Carolina in 1958. The coach served a four-year stint in the Navy before completing his college education.

Rosemond so impressed then coach Frank McGuire with his leadership potential that he was appointed frosh coach for the 1957-58 season. The next year Ken was offered an assistantship at South Carolina, where he served one season. He rejoined McGuire's staff in 1959 and has been a vital cog in the basketball picture since.

When Dean Smith succeeded McGuire, Rosemond moved up as his assistant. Kenneth Walker Rosemond is a busy man. He puts in a full shift with the varsity and freshman teams, also serves as chief recruiter and scout.

Rosemond is 34 and appears to be a young man going places. He is married and has two sons.

ASSISTANT CHARLIE SHAFFER

Last year's basketball co-captain, Charlie Shaffer joins the Carolina staff this season as an assistant coach of the freshman squad. He will offer the young athletes guidance based on his own career and assist in all phases.

Shaffer, a Chapel Hillian, is now in Law School. A former Rhodes Scholar nominee, he won Phi Beta Kappa honors as an undergraduate, served as president of his senior class and was a star performer in basketball and tennis.

As a varsity cager, Shaffer averaged in double figures for a three-year period and was hailed for his fierce rebounding and general play.

Shaffer has strong ties with the University. His father, a former UNC football standout, is Director of Development on the Chapel Hill campus. For three years Shaffer's tennis skills helped the Tar Heels to the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament crown.

Shaffer, a Morehead Scholar following a prep career at Woodberry Forest, is a newly-wed.

ASSISTANT DONNIE WALSH

This is the third season Don Walsh has served as a freshman assistant to Coach Ken Rosemond. Don holds the high honor of being a co-editor of the Law Review, a publication of the University's School of Law. He thus is both student and coach.

A three-year letterman at Carolina during his playing days, Walsh was a fine playmaker and leader. Academically he was a Dean's List student and now is completing his third year at law.

While a senior during the 1961-62 campaign, Walsh set a field goal accuracy record and was the Tar Heels' third highest scorer with a 13.4 average. Don cannot devote his complete time to basketball, but he will help in teaching, scouting and recruiting.

MILLER PACES A STRONG FROSH

North Carolina's freshman team is blessed with good ball handling, good speed, a big man and Larry Miller. What success the Tar Babies earn must be achieved with those ingredients.

The team has its weaknesses. The good outside shot, a feature on last year's frosh squad with the likes of Bob Lewis, Ian Morrison and Tom Gauntlett, is missing. The plan now is to make up for offense with defense.

"How much winning ball this team plays," Coach Ken Rosemond said, "depends on how determined they are to play good defense. Top performance in that phase of the game is a must for us."

Whatever shortcomings the Tar Babies have, Miller goes a long way toward camouflaging them. He's a 6-4, 210-pound column on which the team's strength rests. Many consider him the most sought after high school basketball player in the country last year. His scholarship offers ran well over a hundred.

Miller's credentials are impressive. He averaged over 30 rebounds and points per game at Catasaugua High School in Pennsylvania. Larry once scored 65 points in one game. His rebound high mark was 45.

"You're going to see him draw a lot of fouls," Rosemond predicts. "He has moves other players just aren't able to defense without resorting to a foul."

Miller, the Tar Babies' best defender himself, should be the North Carolina leader in scoring and rebounding. He'll play at a forward post.

The yearlings' big man is 6-7 center Dickson Gribble. He moves well for his size and should be a rebounding leader along with Miller. Gribble, from Raleigh's Phillips Exeter High School, is the tallest Tar Heel since Bob Bennett (6-8) came here in 1962.

The guards are Greg Campbell (6-1, 170) from Bayonne, N. J. and Jimmy Shackelford (6-1, 170) from Wilson, N. C. Both rate as top ball handlers. With them in the backcourt Carolina should have no trouble bringing the ball up against a press.

Both were also baseball players in high school, Greg a pitcher and Jimmy a second baseman. On the court Campbell averaged 19 points a game as a senior; Shackelford hit for 23 a game. Jimmy is a former All-State player who performed in the East-West All-Star game.

Jim Frye (6-5, 180) probably will be at the other forward spot. He left quite an athletic record back home in Homewood (Ill.). He had a one-game scoring high of 43 points. On the track he high jumped 6-4½ and ran the 120-yard high hurdles in a :15.4.

UNC's Assistant Director of Athletics

Walter Rabb, assistant director of athletics at UNC, experienced his most delightful season of coaching last spring. Rabb's Tar Heels swept a 14-game Atlantic Coast Conference baseball schedule without a loss. It was the first unbeaten season for any team since the league was formed in 1953.

Successful squads is an old trick for Rabb. In 1963, his team also won the league crown and competed in the Collegiate World Series at Omaha, Neb. Rabb became head diamond coach here in 1956, succeeding the late and beloved Bunn Hearn. Last spring's 24 wins is a record for the school.

A native of Lenoir, Rabb had an illustrious college career at N. C. State and later played professional baseball. He joined the staff here in the early 1940's and became an associate professor of Physical Education in 1946. For many years he was director of intramural athletics.

Rabb works closely with Athletic Director Erickson and handles much of the scheduling. He lists fishing as his major hobby when not figuring baseball strategy.

For many years, Rabb has served with the District 3 NCAA baseball committee. He was honored as president of the American Association of Baseball Coaches two years ago.

Coach Rabb is married to the former Amy Warren of Snow Hill, N. C. They have a son and a daughter.

World Traveler Lacey Returns From Far East

John Lacey, head trainer of the North Carolina Tar Heels, served in the same capacity for the United States Olympic basketball team during the recent games at Tokyo.

"It was a tremendous thrill," said Lacey, "and an extra pleasure since Larry Brown, one of our Carolina boys, was a hero in leading the victory of the American team."

Lacey was granted a leave of absence from his football duties to handle the Olympic cagers. He is now back on campus with many pleasant memories of his trip to Japan.

The impeccable Lacey in past years has served as a trainer for three National Championship teams: football and lacrosse at Maryland, basketball at UNC. He was brought to North Carolina by the late Jim Tatum, who admired his work at Maryland.

This is Lacey's eighth season as head trainer of the Tar Heels. Prior to his duties at Maryland, he was a trainer at Yale and served with three professional football teams—the Chicago Rockets, the New York Yanks and the Baltimore Colts.

Lacey attended high school in his home town of Wallingford, Conn., and also prepped at Tilton Academy in New Hampshire. During World War II he had his first training experience at Camp Robinson Base Hospital at Little Rock, Ark. He studied at the Eastern School in New York under Dr. S. E. Bilik and the Junior College of Therapy at New Haven. He also was a student in the Yale University Department of Health.

Dapper John was born Aug. 28, 1917. He is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

PROUD HISTORY AS A WINNER

North Carolina's basketball history is a proud one. The Tar Heels won a National Championship in 1924, again in 1957. Seldom does a winter pass without a winning record at Chapel Hill.

A statistical bureau compiled a series of records last season which calculated the merits of teams over the past 25 years. North Carolina placed high in every category among the "WINNINGEST" teams in collegiate basketball. In the past 10 years, the Tar Heels ranked eighth in the country in won-loss percentage.

Below is a chart of the best teams in America over the years.

THE EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

The purpose of The Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

The Educational Foundation, Inc., operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessings and good will of the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status comparable to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation, and other money raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

Any person, approved by the Executive Committee, who makes a donation is entitled to membership in The Educational Foundation, Inc. He remains in good standing as long as he makes an annual contribution.

It is not required that a member of The Educational Foundation, Inc., be an alumnus of the University. Some of the Foundation's largest and most faithful contributors did not attend the University, but are supporters of the institution and its athletic teams.

All donations to The Educational Foundation, Inc., are tax-deductible.

Executive Secretary of the Educational Foundation is Ernie Williamson.

Borne in Crewe, Va., on Sept. 9, 1922, Ernie, a giant of a man, is a North Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. He played one season of football here under Carl Snavely in 1946 and was a tremendous tackle. He was lured away to play professional football and had tenures with Washington and Los Angeles before his career was cut short by a knee injury.

Married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va., Ernie is the father of a son and daughter.

LETTERMEN RETURNING (7):

Billy Cunningham, 6-5½, frontcourt—Captain and one of the nation's outstanding players; owns school rebounding mark with an average of 16 per game; averaged 26 points per game last season. All-America and All-ACC.

Ray Respess, 6-4, frontcourt—Starter soph and junior years; averaged 13.2 per game; top free throw percentage on squad.

Ray Hassell, 5-11, backcourt—Averaged 1.4 per game for 22 games; spot man.

REPLACEMENTS: A standout group of rising sophs should help strengthen Carolina in many positions. Bob Lewis, who averaged 37 points per game as a yearling, is a man to watch. Ian Morrison, who averaged 20, is a backcourt threat. Mark Mirken (6-6) puts muscle into the rebounding. Tom Gauntlett fits the all-around category. Jimmy Smithwick and Donnie Moe add reserve power. Mike Smith, a transfer, will be eligible in January.

32 BILLY CUNNINGHAM

Just how good is Billy Cunningham? His coach calls him the "most underrated player in America." Certainly he is among the nation's best.

Cunningham didn't arrive overnight as an ace. When he entered Chapel Hill as a freshman, greatness was predicted. He had the moves, the strength, the stamina, the desire.

It is difficult to determine Cunningham's true value after two varsity seasons. He was a sensational freshman and sophomore. As a soph, he had the good fortune to be the receiver of Larry Brown's passes and he scored high and often. Brown later was to gain Olympic stardom.

As a junior, Cunningham was minus the Brown help but he managed, in something of a one-man show, to average 26 points per game and rebound as if it were going out of style. For two years, Billy has averaged 16 rebounds each contest, a school record.

This season, his final one as a Tar Heel, Cunningham should reach for his finest acclaim. He has help as a rebounder for a change and this should keep him more rested. He shouldn't have to carry the offense alone. He shouldn't be double-teamed as often as in past years.

Cunningham is a youngster of 6-5½ and he weighs 215 pounds. A 21-year-old from Brooklyn, he has become as southern as grits and fatback. At a school which has a long list of All-America performers, Billy rates at the top.

The spectacular shot is commonplace for the strawberry-thatched Billy, a kid with high pockets and elevated standards on a court. A southpaw, he shoots gracefully with either hand and from all distances. Ironically, Billy's best shot is a near miss. His following action is awesome. He owns the best second shot in America.

When Cunningham jumps, he goes up like a rocket. This is deceptive, for he isn't a great jumper in strict terms of measurement.

"Billy's timing is uncanny," points out Coach Dean Smith. "He appears to go higher than most, but his trick is meeting the ball at the most opportune time. He has a radar touch."

One rival coach watched Cunningham through several games. He commented: "I'm not sure of his actual size, but he plays seven feet tall."

Chuck Noe, ex-South Carolina mentor, applauded Cunningham after he had wrecked the Noe Express. Suggested Chuck: "Give me Cunningham and I'll take on the world."

Basketball buffs in Chapel Hill were stunned during the summer when Billy was carried off a softball field with a broken ankle. Broken bones are old stuff to Billy. He thrives on them.

When he was a lad of 10, fate struck a cruel blow. He broke his left arm and it didn't heal properly. It required surgery and bone fitting. There was a possibility that it might never mend properly. Billy sat on the sidelines for a couple of years and watched others play. Gradually the arm got better—and finally it became as good as new. His ankle responded the same way.

As a sophomore, Billy averaged almost 23 points and 16 rebounds for the Tar Heels. He upped his scoring to 26 as a junior. Often overlooked is the fact that Billy's defense is also a strong point. He often crams the ball down the throat of an opponent attempting to get off a shot.

Last year Cunningham made the All-America team as selected by the Basketball Writers of America. He was a unanimous choice for All-Atlantic Coast Conference, second year in a row for that honor.

Last year's high for Cunningham was 40 points and 28 rebounds against Maryland. He was in double figures so often a 15-point night was considered a dull affair by his fans. Billy, as a senior, should fly high again.

12 RAY RESPESS

North Carolina's rebounding is expected to jump by leaps and bounds this season. A big reason is the addition of newcomers, plus old reliables Billy Cunningham and Ray Respess.

For the past two seasons, Respess has backed up Cunningham in the rebounding department. Standing 6-4 and weighing 195, Ray has enough size and hawking desire to pull the ball off the boards often.

But rebounding isn't Ray's strongest point. He has a one-hander that's a beauty, especially when he's hitting from side court. When Respess is hot, no player in the Atlantic Coast Conference will outshoot him.

Over the past two seasons, the lanky Respess has averaged a field goal accuracy of 46 per cent of his shots, 187 baskets for 402 attempts. His shot is usually a crowd pleaser, one with a high arc which flutters the net like a soft breeze from the ocean.

"Ray is a good man for any squad," says Coach Dean Smith. "He is a willing worker and has a fine attitude. He hustles for the school and for the team."

Ray is from Pantego, N. C., and for the past two years he has been Carolina's No. 1 problem for sports writers and radio announcers. All find his name hard to spell—and Pantego hard to pronounce. The opposition, incidentally, finds Respess hard to handle.

Respess upped his 6.7 per game average of 1963 to 13.2 last season, second best behind Cunningham. He played in all 24 games and led the team in free throw accuracy with a figure of 78.8 (157-249).

31 BOB BENNETT

Bob Bennett is the tallest of the Tar Heels, standing 6-7½. He could also be one of the biggest contributors to success if he finds himself.

A native of Mount Lebanon, Pa., Bennett is wonderfully coordinated for a man his size. He competes in track as well as basketball and his smooth strides belie his ample frame.

Last season, Bennett was counted upon to step up from a successful freshman year and come on big. He found the pace of varsity basketball a tremendous step, consequently played in limited amounts. There were times, however, when he looked like a major leaguer. He participated in 22 contests.

"Bob is young," analyzes Coach Smith, "and he found his opponents mature and ready. We didn't want to apply too much pressure on him, hence he was used in spot situations. He is strong and can rebound. He has a good shot. I think he will come along and make a fine player."

During the 1962-63 season, Bennett led the frosh scoring with an average of 16.6 per game.

As a prepster in Pennsylvania, Bennett was a highly sought-after athlete. Like so many others, he chose Carolina because of its academic record and the friendliness of the campus.

Bennett is due to come into his own. When he does, Carolina's stock will soar.

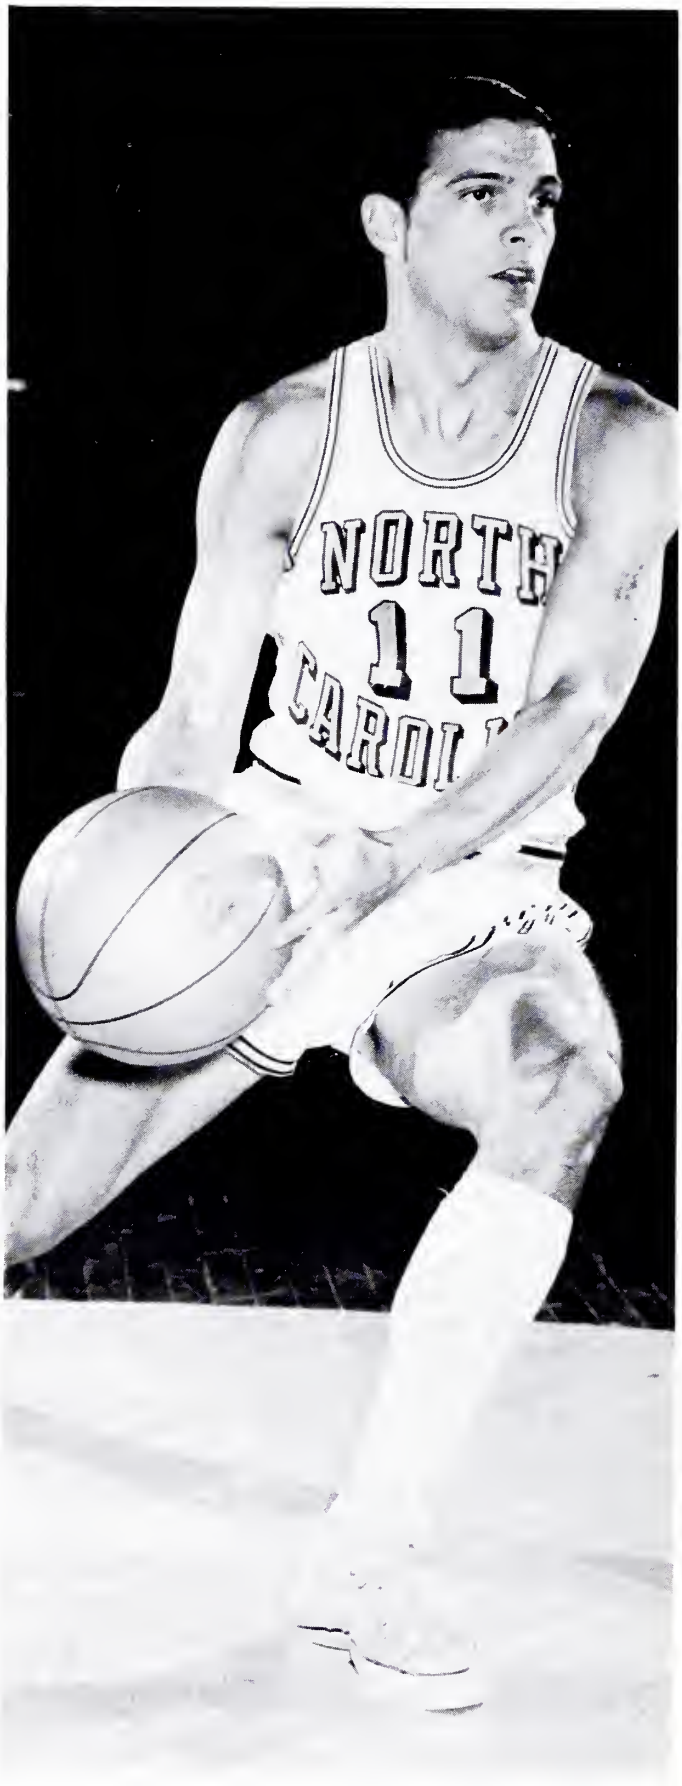
11 RAY HASSELL



Raymond Grayer Hassell is one of those Beaufort boys. For folks who keep up with high school sports in North Carolina, that's explanation enough.

As a prepster Hassell 1) played on a football team that won the state crown and went unscored on in 13 consecutive games (a North Carolina high school record); 2) played on a baseball team that went two complete seasons without losing; and 3) played on a basketball team that won 91 straight (the modern national record) and three state crowns.

Hassell made a gang of All-Star teams in all three sports, a good indication of his contribution. Dell magazine named him to their All-America basketball squad.

Ray had three cousins who helped him build a basketball empire at Beaufort. Pud plays here at Carolina; N.C. State got Johnny; and Butch was a starter last winter at Wake Forest.

"Ray helped us out in a number of games last year, particularly our match here with Wake Forest," Coach Dean Smith said. "Ray's greatest strength is simply that he has no great weakness. He shoots well, he's quick, he'll be a help in the future. Consistency has hurt his overall play. He can be very good—and sometimes just the opposite."

Hassell may be switched to a swing spot this fall. As a freshman and sophomore here he worked at guard.

33 BILL BROWN

Billy Cunningham and Bob Lewis are billed as the stars of the North Carolina basketball show. But a guy named Bill Brown will run it. It's a job that fits him to his Ts—talent, training and temperament.

Brown, a senior, has worked his way up through the ranks. He got a look at how things ought to be done as a sophomore. That was the heyday of another Brown—Larry, the quarterback of the 1964 U.S. Olympic team. His junior year Bill played in 20 games, starting against Duke in the ACC Tournament.

Brown is talented in hand and head work. He's a good ball handler and he knows his basketball—two "musts" for the good hardwood quarterback.

"Bill was a pleasant surprise from the start of the year," Coach Dean Smith said. "He has demonstrated his ability to take charge of the team."

Brown's training, besides his two years of apprenticeship here, includes lessons under Claire Bee at his Camp All America in New York. "That summer opened my eyes," Bill said. "Basketball is so much more than the mastery of individual moves—it's tactics."

He has shown his temperament. "Brown proved his steadiness under fire last year," his coach said. "Against Duke in the ACC Tournament we wanted to hold the ball during the first half and slow down play. Bill started and got the job done."

"I've looked forward to this year." Brown said. "The opportunity to call the plays and direct our offense is a challenge. I can see I'm not going to score much but with Lewis and Cunningham out there that's the least of my worries.

"My success or failure," he said, "will be measured by my ability to size up our opponent's defense and to shift our offense into the right gear."

That Brown is to play a key role in Carolina basketball is justice. It has been a goal of his since 1957. He was a Durham schoolboy when UNC defeated 32 consecutive opponents to win the National championship. Bill had a hero on that team, a boy named Tommy Kearns—the quarterback.

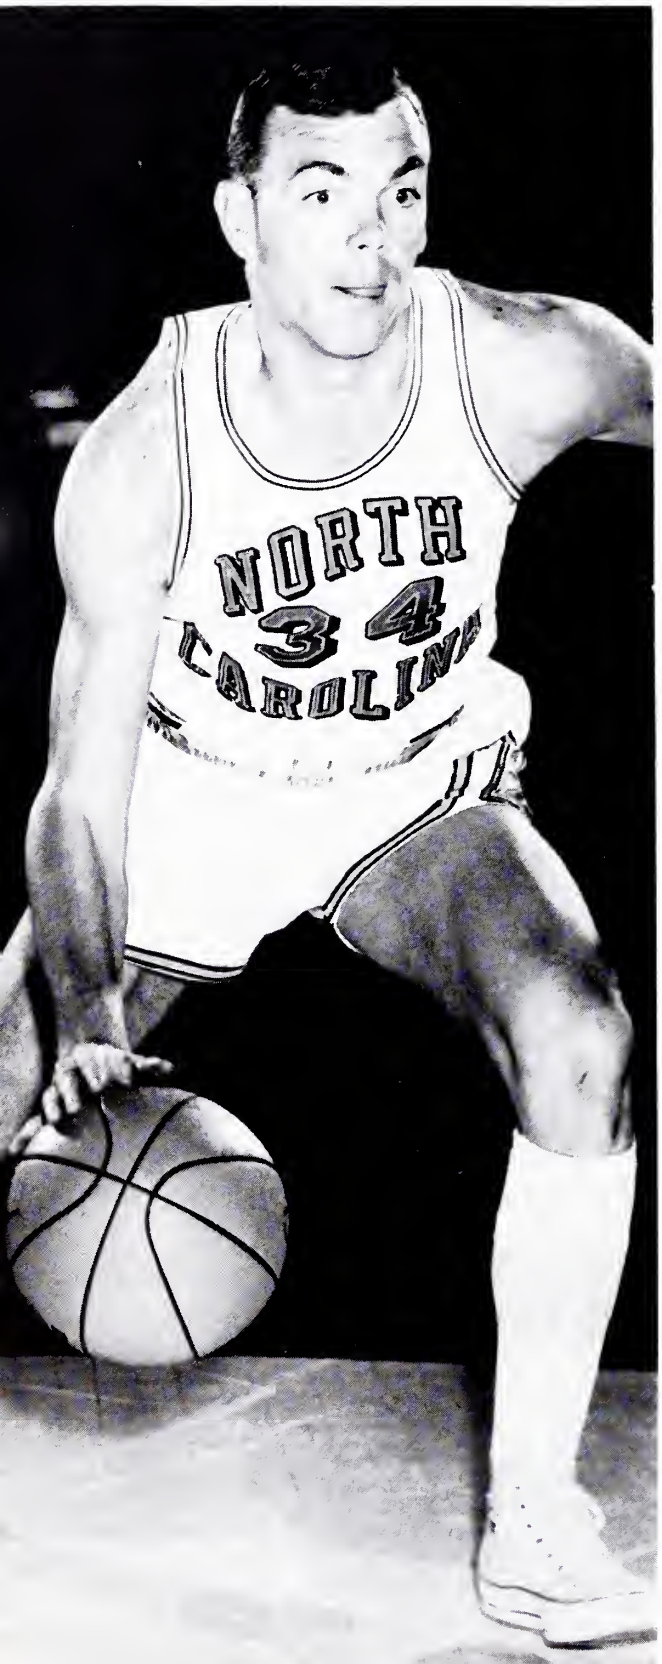
34 PUD HASSELL



Pud Hassell is a boy with a past—and a future. Behind him is one of the winningest prep careers ever. Ahead of him is an important role with North Carolina's Tar Heels.

In Eastern North Carolina, Hassell is another word for basketball. Besides Pud, there was cousin Ray, who lettered at Carolina, and cousin Butch, who started at Wake Forest, and cousin Johnny, who played at N.C. State.

That passell of Hassels made Beaufort the national capitol of high school basketball, winning 91 consecutive games between 1958 and 1962, a modern American record.

Pud's career started as a 9th grader in 1957. It was a bad year. Beaufort only won 17 of 21. But then the streak started and for three years the Hassells were in a league all their own. When Pud graduated in 1961 Beaufort had won 76 straight ball games and three consecutive state championships. The next year it ended, aptly in an overtime game.

Pud's personal streak was broken at 87. He played on the winning team in the East-West All Star game and then on a freshman outfit here that won its first ten.

Since his first year here Pud's play has been hampered by injury. He first hurt his knee in a basketball game as a sophomore in high school. An operation was required to correct the damage.

Then in the summer of 1962 Pud injured the same knee again. The operation that followed knocked him out of what would have been his sophomore year.

The knee bothered him some last year, especially in the beginning, but he earned a job as a spot performer.

"Based on Pud's performance in the final Duke game last year he is going to help us a lot," Coach Dean Smith said. "Hassell is the boy to have in there when the ball is precious and you're looking for the good shot."

Pud, the authority on winning, is looking to a good year. He has a unique expression to size up this year's Tar Heel Club.

"When you're playing on a great team," he says, "it makes you mad all over to lose. When you're not, it's something you accept in stride. And I think this bunch is a get-mad-all-over team."

JOHNNY YOKLEY

Dean Smith couldn't have kept Johnny Yokley away from his basketball door with a "keeping-away machine." Because for a Mount Airy Yokley, coming to school at Chapel Hill is more than tradition—it's part of growing up.

His dad and grandad attended. So did an uncle and an aunt and a double handful of cousins. When it came Johnny's turn for college there was no decision to make. It was only a matter of packing his bags.

Yokley plays guard. Somebody has said that to play that position well a boy must have hot hands, a cool head, and lightning in his feet. Johnny fills that bill.

He has the hands. Once, as a freshman, Yokley connected on seven consecutive field goals on the way to a 20-point night. He demonstrated calm collectiveness as a starter in late season last year. And speed has always been Yokley's forte.

"Defensively Johnny was one of the best players we looked at his senior year," Coach Smith said. "He's agile, he's aggressive, but most of all he is just plain quick."

Yokley missed a third of last season with a shoulder injury suffered after the Notre Dame game. He played in 10 games, partly as a starter, partly as a relief for guards Mike Cooke and Charlie Shaffer.

Cooke, a co-captain who graduated, was a teammate of Yokley's at Mount Airy. They played together on a powerhouse back in 1959.

Which bring to mind a Yokley tradition Johnny started himself. It's called winning. During one stretch his high school outfit won 50 straight ball games, including two AAA state crowns. Yokley, an All-America his senior year, was a ring leader.

That's what Dean Smith is looking for this year. He has enough stars to put on a three-ring circus. To run that show he needs a ring leader.

THE NEWCOMERS

BOB LEWIS

42 TOM GAUNTLETT, Frontcourt, 6-4, 198, 19, Dallas, Pa.—This young man has a bright future. Did a creditable job as a starter for last year's frosh and averaged 13 points per game, third best among the regulars. Has shown marked improvement in drills.

13 IAN MORRISON, Backcourt, 6-1½, 177, 19, St. Petersburg, Fla.—Brilliant shooter from the outside, Ian averaged 20 points per game his freshman season. He has good moves and a great desire to excell. Ideal man for breaking up a zone defense. Had a field goal percentage of almost 50 per cent, remarkable in that most of his shooting was from long range. High school All-America pick.

40 DONNIE MOE, Backcourt, 6-1½, 169, 19, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Brother of Doug Moe, who made All-America here a few years back. Strictly the quarterback type who works hard and excells at making plays. Deceptive passer. Averaged seven points per game on the frosh squad last season.

44 MARK MIRKEN, Frontcourt, 6-6, 226, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Held out last year, Mirken has good strength and doesn't mind the rough work demanded of a good rebounder. Has a good one-hander and averaged seven points as a frosh two years ago.

41 JIMMY SMITHWICK, Frontcourt, 6-5, 202, 20, Morehead City, N. C.—A red-shirt of last season, Smithwick needs experience but shows a willingness that should pay off in the future. Played with Bob Bennett and Mark Mirken as a frosh two years ago.

43 MIKE SMITH, Backcourt, 6-0, 174, 24, North Salem, Ind.—A transfer student, Mike will not be eligible until mid-January. Served a hitch in the Marines before entering Carolina last winter. A good dribbler and playmaker.

22 BOB LEWIS, Backcourt or Frontcourt, 6-3, 173, 19, Washington, D. C.—This youngster was sensational as a yearling, averaging 37 points and almost 17 rebounds per game for school freshman records. An All-America in high school, Lewis makes his moves with grace and ease. Shoots from anywhere and is especially good on follow shots. Branded for stardom.

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-3 f Rudy Antoncic, 5-8 g Buddy Benedict, 5-11 g Ronnie Cox, 6-0 g Richard Hall, and 6-4 f Gary Helms.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-2 f Mike Bohonak, 6-3 g Jim Brennan, 6-6 f Gary Burnisky, 6-8 c Donnie Mahaffey, 6-1 g Nick Milasnovich, 6-7 f Woody Morgan, 6-8 c Manning Privette.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-2 g Sam Cohn, 6-4 f Donnie Seitz, 6-5 f Tom Corocoran, 6-5 f Ken Gardner.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Clemson lost five starters and two reserves off of last year's 3rd place Atlantic Coast Conference Club, but head coach Bobby Roberts is actually optimistic about the coming campaign. The reason for hope is that Clemson fielded its best freshman team in history last year with a 14-1 mark. Don't be surprised if four of these sophomores are in the starting lineup. Roberts feels that Randy Mahaffey, Jim Sutherland, Walt Ayers, and Hank Channell have the tools to play right now in the ACC. The fifth man will probably be either Rudy Antoncic, Buddy Benedict, or Gary Helms.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-0 g Dwayne Powell, 6-5 f Tom Duggins, 6-6 c Bryan Phillips, 6-5 g Ray Jeffords.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Prospects are bright. Four starters returning from 1963-64 team that compiled best record of a Georgia basketball team in 24 years: Jimmy Pitts, 6-1 guard, 18.7 average; Jerry Waller, 6-7 forward, all-SEC soph first team, set school record with 13.7 average on rebounds; Lee Martin, 6-0 guard, all-SEC soph first team, great play-maker; and Mack Crenshaw, 6-7 center . . . Billy Rado, 6-0 guard who led Georgia in scoring as a soph in 1962-63 with 19.0 average, may be available for duty this coming season. He missed action in the closing games of the 1963-64 season (severe migraine headaches) . . . Georgia's best freshman team in history will provide several outstanding prospects for the varsity this season: Dwayne Powell, 6-0 guard who averaged 23.3 with the Bullpups; Ray Jeffords, 6-5 guard, who averaged 14.8 on rebounds; Bryan Phillips, 6-6 center, and Tom Duggins, 6-5 forward.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Frank McGuire returns to collegiate coaching with only one returning starter (who averaged 4.0 points last season) and a Herculean rebuilding job at South Carolina. Only three members of the 1964-65 squad return, including 6-9 Jim Fox who was ineligible the second semester last year. REPLACEMENTS: Louie Dampier, Pat Riley, Gary Hape.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Kentucky will sorely miss 50 per cent of its scoring punch of last season with the departure of three-time All-America Cotton Nash and All-Conference forward Ted Deeken. Three regulars return, headed by 6-3 "take charge" guy Larry Conley but height is lacking in the lineup and Baron Adolph Rupp, the nation's winningest cage mentor, may be hard pressed to win without someone to get the ball off the boards. Best prospect is 6-6 senior John Adams, a disappointment in two previous varsity years.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-1 g Al Andrews, 6-3 f John Schweers, 6-6 c Nels Siegert, 6-7 c Mike Mucklin, 6-5 f Jim Thiel.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: New Coach Ralph Pedersen must pick up the pieces from a 1-22 campaign—worst in Tulane's history. Guard Denny Shoup is the only regular returning, but there are some excellent sophomores such as guard Al Andrews and forwards John Schweers and Jim Thiel. Tulane's rebuilding campaign is just beginning, but things look brighter for the Green Wave—even in the immediate future.

REPLACEMENTS: Sophomores 6-4 c Harry Joyner, 6-0 g Bill Russell, 6-3½ g Irv Inniger.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Ten returning lettermen and last year's starting five intact reported to Coach Branch McCracken. Unfortunately, it also retains last year's problem, lack of an established "big man." The Hoosiers' tallest starter—from a line-up of Tom and Dick VanArsdale at forwards, Jon McGlocklin at center, and Steve Redenbaugh and Al Harden at guards—was 6-5 last season. Hopes for emergence of the big man rest on 6-8 Ron Peyser, of Chicago Heights, Ill.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-7 f Bob Hines.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Clyde Lee and John Ed Miller, the long and the short of Vanderbilt basketball, head up the current edition that includes all but one of the lettermen from last season, a 19-6 ball club. Lee and Miller have Roger Schurig and Bob Grace back with them to form the first four. Coach Skinner has a little more depth than usual and realizes his team will be rated at the top of the SEC. Lee led the league in scoring. Scoring is strong outside and inside.

Babe McCarthy

LOCATION: State College, Mississippi
NICKNAME: Bulldogs
CONFERENCE: Southeastern
COLORS: Maroon & White
1964 ENROLLMENT: 6,315
DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS: Wade H. Walker
PUBLICITY DIRECTOR: Bob Hartley
HOME COURT: Maroon Gymnasium, 5,000
HEAD COACH: Babe McCarthy (Miss. State '49)
PREVIOUS SEASONS: 9, won 159, lost 69
1964 OVERALL RECORD: 9-17
1964 CONFERENCE RECORD: 4-10
SERIES RECORD: First meeting

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-5 f Richie Williams, 6-3 f Don Posey, 6-8 c Howard Hemphill, 5-10 g Paul Smith.

LETTERMEN LOST: 5-10 g Doug Hutton, 6-5 c Stan Brinker, 6-1 g Aubrey Nichols, 6-3 g Bill Anderton.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-4 f John Sapen, 6-3 f Gary Washington, 6-7 c Charlie Crews, 6-1 g Bill Chumbler, 6-0 g Buddy Walden.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Bulldogs surely will be improved over last year's disappointing 9-17 outfit. Chief cause for improvement will be half a dozen sophomores moving up from frosh team that posted 20-3 record. State could field an all-sophomore starting five. Coach Babe McCarthy says, "This is our greenest team ever. And it could be one of the most interesting teams we've had."

NICKNAME: Gators
CONFERENCE: SEC
COLORS: Blue and Orange
1964 ENROLLMENT: 15,200
DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS: Ray Graves
PUBLICITY DIRECTOR: Norm Carlson
HOME COURT: Florida Gymnasium, 7,000
HEAD COACH: Norm Sloan, N.C. State, 1950
PREVIOUS SEASONS: 4, won 51, lost 46
1964 OVERALL RECORD: 12-10
1964 CONFERENCE RECORD: 6-8
SERIES RECORD: UNC 6, Florida 1

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-2 g Brooks Henderson, 6-5 f Dick Tomlinson, 5-10 g Tom Baxley, 6-4 f Paul Morton, 6-7 c Bill Koss, 5-9 g Bruce Moore, 6-8 c Bob Hoffmann.

LETTERMEN LOST: c Mont Highley, f Richard Peek, Edd Poore, Lanny Sommese.

REPLACEMENTS: c Jeff Ramsey, f Gary Keller, g-f Harry Winkler.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Coach Sloan says: "This is our best team yet at Florida. We have improved, but so has the rest of the league; however, I believe we will start to close the gap between Florida and the league's top teams this year. Our big worry now is the inexperience of our big boys. Gary Keller and Jeff Ramsey are going to be outstanding basketball players, but need work. Bob Hoffmann has only a year's playing time, and not all of that as a regular. Our strong suit is very definitely experience, speed and ability at guard. Brooks Henderson, in my opinion, is the finest all-around guard in the league. Tom Baxley is a very capable running mate. A big load falls on sophomores like Keller, Ramsey and Harry Winkler. How they respond will make worlds of difference to this club."

HEAD COACH: H. A. "Bud" Millikan, Oklahoma A&M '42
PREVIOUS SEASONS: 14, won 198, lost 146
1964 OVERALL RECORD: 9-16
CONFERENCE RECORD: 5-9
SERIES RECORD: UNC 41, Maryland 24

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-4 g Neil Brayton, 6-4 f Phil Carlson, 6-4 f Jackie Clark, 5-10 g Mike DeCosmo, 5-10 g Bill Franklin, 6-4 f Bob Lewis, 6-1 g Sam McWilliams, 6-2 g Dick Mueller, 6-5 f Gary Ward, 6-8 c Rick Wise.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-8 c Scott Ferguson, 6-2 g George Suder.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-3 g Don Brotman, 6-5 f Joe Harrington, 6-7 f Paul Hauser, 6-7 c Jay McMillen, 6-0 g Gary Williams.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Four juniors and one soph should start . . . Wise, Ward and Brayton should provide scoring punch, but team will miss George Suder, soph guard last year who was scholastic casualty. Good crop of sophomores will lend depth which was missing last year. Rough schedule at start could hurt.

PREVIOUS SEASONS: 7, won 110, lost 79
1964 OVERALL RECORD: 16-11
1964 CONFERENCE RECORD: 9-5
SERIES RECORD: UNC 74, Wake 33

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-0 g John Anderson, 6-5 f Richard Herring, 6-2 g Bob Leonard, 6-5 f Al Lozier, 6-4 g Billy Smith, 6-6 c Ronny Watts

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-4 f Frank Christie, 5-11 g Butch Hassell, 6-5 f Richard Carmichael, 6-7 c Brad Brooks.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-5 f Jim Altengarten, 6-5 g Jim Boshart, 6-1 g Lucky Moody, 6-4 g Clark Pool, 6-6 c Jimmy Snyder, 6-7 c Sherrill Whitaker.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Coach Bones McKinney has only two starters returning from last year's club which finished second to Duke in both the ACC regular-season and tournament playoff. Captain Ronny Watts and guard Bob Leonard are the starters and both are expected to play major roles in the success of this year's team. McKinney is counting on help from his sophomores, headed by Jim Boshart and Jim Altengarten. Boshart was the top scorer for the frosh last season with a 21.3 average for 15 games.

Vic Bubas

LOCATION: Durham, N. C.
NICKNAME: Blue Devils

COLORS: Blue and White
1964 ENROLLMENT: 6,700
DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS: E. M. Cameron
PUBLICITY DIRECTOR: Glenn E. (Ted) Mann
HOME COURT: Duke Indoor Stadium, 8,800
HEAD COACH: Vic Bubas (N. C. State '51)
PREVIOUS SEASONS: 5, won 112, lost 30
1964 OVERALL RECORD: 26-5
1964 CONFERENCE RECORD: 16-1
SERIES RECORD: UNC 53, Duke 48

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-7 f Brent Kitching, 6-4 f Phil Allen, 6-6 f Jack Marin, 6-10 c Hack Tison, 6-0 g Denny Ferguson, 6-2 g Ron Herbster, 6-1 g Steve Vacendak.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-4 f Jeff Mullins, 6-10 c Jay Buckley, 6-3 g Buzzy Harrison, 6-0 g Ray Cox.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-5 f Jim Liccardo, 6-6 c Bob Reidy, 6-0 g Bob Verga.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: Blue Devils again should be contender for the ACC title. However, the losses (Mullins, Buckley, Harrison) were heavy—almost 47 points per game. This should be another good defensive team. Rebounding and passing should be keys to success. Depth in the front court might be a problem before the year is over. The team should have adequate depth in the back court.

REPLACEMENTS: 6-5 f Pete Coker, 6-7 f Jerry Moore, 6-11 c Paul Hudson, 6-8 c John Sellers, 6-0 g Eddie Biedenbach, 6-0 g Sam Gealy.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: The Wolfpack, in Everett Case's 19th and final season, expects improvement over its 1963-64 record of eight wins and 11 losses. Seven lettermen return, with Pete Auksel the only man missing from the top 11 scorers of last year. The return of Larry Lakins (20.8 scorer) and addition of transfer Pete Coker strengthens the Pack.

LETTERMEN RETURNING: 6-6 f Mac Caldwell, 6-3 f Ken Goble, 6-3 f Jerry Sanders, 6-0 g Bernie Meyer.

LETTERMEN LOST: 6-3 f Chip Conner, 5-8 g Jay Lambiotte, 6-10 c Rich Katstra, 6-0 Fletcher Arritt, 6-4 Gary Spohn.

CAPSULE OUTLOOK: The 1964-65 Cavalier basketball squad will have only four returning lettermen. Gone are All-ACC forward Chip Conner, who averaged almost 19 points a game, standout guard Jay Lambiotte and 6-10 center Rich Katstra. Between them they averaged over 35 points for a team that scored 65 points a game. Far and away the best of the returnees is captain-elect Mac Caldwell. The slender forward has been the leading rebounder for two varsity seasons and has a career total of 399. He has scored 687 points for a game average of 14.1. His field goal percentage .444 attests to his ability to hit constantly under pressure.
